Somebody writes us relative to their newspaper and asks us, to inform them whether we shall make them any at the rate of $2. per year for arrears. This person fails to sign the letter or to give his post-office address. Of course it is impossible for us to answer him more than through the ADVERTISER. Our reply is: If you will pay ahead on your paper as many as you can, you will be able to have the paper at the reduced rates. That is simply asking you to trust us as long as we have trusted you. The ADVERTISER is a factory. Otherwise $2.00 per year will be exacted.

The Industrial Journal seems to be in a flourishing condition. It commences the New Year with a new head and a very considerable enlargement. The Maine man should be proud of it. It shows up the industrial interest of the State better than any other journal. If any of our readers would like to see a sample copy one will be furnished free of charge by addressing the Journal Publishing Co., Bangor, Me., and stating that they saw this notice in the ADVERTISER.

Elsewhere we publish the County Treasurer's Report. The total resources above liabilities are $6,580,053. Court expenses for the year have been smaller than usual and fines and costs larger, hence an increase of cash on hand. This surplus of cash in the treasury is estimated to be only sufficient to pay running expenses until the next year's the County was obliged to borrow money to meet current expenses from Jan. to Sept. The Commissioners did not consider this to be proper, hence they have practiced economy and thereby have accumulated a sufficient fund in the treasury to save the County the expense of borrowing money. Good idea.

Arnold State of Bath was shot by his wife Wednesday afternoon of last week. The shooting occurred in a country just off the kitchen. Mrs. Arnold, the housekeeper, said that Arnold wanted his wife to sign the property that was in her name over to him. She was clear in her mind and would not do so. He then demanded his supper, which she said she would get for him as possible. He then went to the kitchen and she followed him. He then took his pistol which he had concealed in a drawer for fear he would be shot as he had often threatened to do, and shot him.

After the embers of the camp fire are all out the G. A. R. boys say that they had the best fire at the Rink the 6th that was ever in the Rink and no one tries to explain or dispute them.

The Rink is growing more and more popular, and the crowds from different organizations gather there from time to time. Everything is so convenient and well and neatly arranged that no one who goes there can do take comfort there, and last but not least the proprietors are ever on the alert looking after the wants of their patrons, that you are and do feel at home at once as soon as you enter the building. It is the design to make this public hall to be let to all respectable traveling troupes as well as to accommodate home demands. Home travel every Friday evening with general skating until further notice.
